

Take Me to the Moon

Take me to the moon, the moon
Nameless of weightless, feel no pain
I ask for nothing, nothing
But it's too much all the same

Hold me around you, 'round you
Gather me close and let me cry
I give you no way now, way now
Of ever knowing why

Show me a river, river
That wanders through mountains, weaves through seas
I'll show you an ocean, ocean
That sings equal, strong and free

What is the cause of, reason
For all of this violence, all this pain
You say it's born in us; no -
I say we're taught the game

Take me to the land, the land
Where riddles are forests and answers trees
The damage to freedom, freedom
Is this constant aim to please

Maybe we'll go now, go now
Hold on together, be one's home
But always there's one thing, something
That leaves me quite alone

Take me to the moon, the moon
Nameland of weightless, feel no pain
I ask for nothing, nothing
But it's too much all ...
Take me to the moon, the moon
I'm landing on the moon ...
